

DODGE PLANT NO. 5 VICTIM OF WATER AND FIRE SCOURGE

Saturday Night Blaze at Phonograph Company Does $40,000 Damage.

A fire, the damage of which was estimated by officials to be almost $40,000, was discovered at the Dodge Manufacturing Plant No. 5 at 11 o'clock Saturday night, and was only subdued after an hour and a half of labor on the part of the three Mishawaka fire companies. A watchman on night duty at the plant was notified by passers by that flames had been seen coming from the windows in the rear of the two-story brick structure which has been used to manufacture phonographs by the Dodge Company for the last two years.

Before the fire departments could successfully battle the flames had spread over the entire second floor and were attacking the many phonograph cabinets stored there. The water from the hoses flooded the floor and leaked into the ground floor, damaging a number of partially constructed cabinets in that part of the building.

The damage to the building was estimated to reach approximately $3,000, while the goods destroyed have not been checked up but will result in a loss of over $30,000.

Firemen who responded to the call described the blaze as the fiercest to take place here in seven years. The only one that equaled it took place at the Mishawaka Trust Co., six years ago.

The Dodge Co., under the guidance of the phonograph inventor Seebrook, have been manufacturing the machines for two years, and six months ago started to construct phonographs suitable for use in the leading theaters. One of the machines had been on display at the Mishawaka Hotel, while another has been in use daily at the Blackstone theater in South Bend.

The cabinet work required to construct a machine of the quality of the Seebrook machine requires much fine labor, and it was these cabinets, many of them almost completed, that were destroyed by the flames and water on Saturday night.

The cause of the fire has not been discovered. It was started last night, but officials estimated that it was started by spontaneous combustion. One thousand completed machines were stored in the building adjacent to the one that took fire. If the blaze had spread a damage of over $150,000 would have been caused.

Work at the plant, where over 50 men are employed, will be hampered by the effects of the blaze. The building where the fire occurred was the old textile plant at Main and Front sts.

The plant and its contents was said by the officials to have been fully insured.

ANTI-SALOON DAY AT LOCAL CHURCHES

Large Congregations Hear Representatives of the League Sunday.

Honorable R. C. Minton, assistant director of prohibition for Indiana, was the speaker at the First Christian church yesterday morning. He appeared here in connection with the annual field day of the Anti-Saloon league, speaking in behalf of this organization, and the problem of law enforcement in the state. He was listened to by a large audience which made a splendid response to his stirring appeal. The speaker said in part:

"I am frank to admit that we are now face to face with a crisis in our work of enforcing the prohibition law, both in the state and in the nation. It is only reasonable to suppose that the liquor forces are going to keep eternally at the door, and if we are to make sure the victory we have won must be by our eternal vigilance. In my work as assistant to the federal prohibition officer, I am in a position to know the situation in the United States. It is about some of these that I wish to talk to you this morning."

Organized Efforts. "There is now a well organized effort on the part of the wets to make our prohibition law appear ridiculous. They are trying to create the impression that it would be better for us to return to the old days of the licensed saloon. Thus there is the effort to encourage in every way the lawlessness and vice that seems to now exist. It might be well to remember that the liquor element has always been on the side of lawlessness."

"Another scheme that is being worked in these days is to secure a return to the light beer and wine. So far they have gone with this project, that city governments have petitioned the federal government to amend the Volstead law making this possible. But what is it they do want? Is it really light wines and beers? They can go into any of these soft drink establishments and get all the light beer and wine they desire. It is beer and wine. It tastes the same, while you drink it as the old beer and wine. The only difference is that it has not the old time 'kick.' So that they really want is the intoxicating effect. They ask return to the days of drunkenness."

"We are to remember that the fight is not won but there is still a struggle to keep what we have thus far won, and to continue to defeat the enemy at every turn."

Rev. E. P. Leckie, of the First Presbyterian church at the morning service of the Anti-Saloon league spoke at the First Baptist church, at the morning service of the Anti-Saloon league of Michigan, was in charge of the services at the First Baptist church. TEMPLE THEATER TODAY. Mary Miles Minter played crowded audiences at the Temple during the day yesterday in "Don't Call Me a Little Girl," which, owing to its excellent cast, will be shown again today for the last time. Together with Larry Semon, one of the funniest of funny comedians, and other features, this bill is one of the funniest shown in Mishawaka in a long time. Semon has woven one of the funniest comedies of the season around a baker shop. He does all the strange stunts that only Larry can do and springs numerous surprises on his unsuspecting audience. The Semon acrobatic stunts and weird animals which have made the comedies of this funniest comedian in laughs are to be found with new twists in "The Bakery."

LINCOLN THEATER TUESDAY. Beautifully gowned society belles of Los Angeles and blue-blooded Russian women, who fled to southern California when the Czar's regime crumbled at the Russian revolution in Sydney Chaplin's initial Paramount comedy production, "King, Queen, Joker," which will be shown at the Lincoln theater tomorrow. Thousands of dollars worth of jewels are worn by the society women, but special detective protection guaranteed their safety during the filming of the scenes.

Mr. Chaplin plays two parts in the comedy—that of the king and a barber who is a joker. Aside from the genuine laugh-provoking situations with which the comedy abounds, there are real thrills aplenty. Lottie Matheron, a beautiful actress, plays opposite the star.

GIVE WRONG IMPRESSION. Through an oversight the wrong advertisement of the Grange Elevator Co. appeared in Sunday's paper and was misleading in regard especially to the prices of the grades of coal handled by this enterprising concern. These prices are changing quite frequently, and A. E. Castleman is desirous of correcting any misapprehension the public may have gotten from reading the advertisement.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS THIMBLE. Mrs. O. R. Martin, 306 E. Eighth st., will entertain the Royal Neighbors at a thimble at her home Tuesday evening. She will be assisted by Mrs. William Brierley and Mrs. Edward Freese.

BICYCLE FOUND. A bicycle, believed to have been stolen, was turned over to the police Sunday afternoon when it was discovered lying in the gutter at Lincoln way and Mill st.

CORETTI WILL WRESTLE MISHAWAKAN SATURDAY

On next Saturday night Charles Smithy, the Mishawaka welterweight wrestler, will meet Johnny Coretti the Elkhart champion in a series of matches at the Elkhart club rooms at Smith and Fourth sts. here. Smithy has come into prominence of late because of his victories over the Terrible Turk, Michigan City's wrestler and F. Verstraete the Mishawaka Belgian Hercules.

A dance will be held after the match has been staged. A series of preliminaries are also being arranged.

PROMINENT BANKER TO SPEAK TUESDAY

Rome C. Stephenson Will Address Members of Commerce Chamber.

Rome C. Stephenson, president of the St. Joseph County Loan and Trust Co., vice-president of the St. Joseph County Savings bank and well known citizen of South Bend, will speak to the members of the Mishawaka Chamber of Commerce at a general meeting at the Hotel Mishawaka, Tuesday next at 12:15. Pres. John W. Schindler and directors are desirous of a large attendance, as Mr. Stephenson's address is expected to be of more than ordinary interest, due to the fact that he has recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he was called by Secy. Wallace to attend the agricultural conference, and where he gathered much information regarding financial matters. In view of the fact that the banking interests of this section are being represented by Mr. Stephenson as a member of the American Bankers' association, his reference to financial conditions should interest every member of the association. His remarks will be preceded by a luncheon.

WINE PROVES TO BE OF HIGH PROOF AFTER TEST. A test of the 400 gallons of rich red wine obtained by the Mishawaka police following a raid upon the home of Giovanni Canaracci, reported to be the best wine maker in the county, proved Saturday night that the confiscated goods were of high proof, some ranging as high as 12.33 per cent and the lowest 3.68 per cent.

The eight barrels, now stored at the city hall, are being closely watched by the police, who have stated that it is the richest bounty secured here in some time.

FRED C. WEAVER FUNERAL. Funeral services for Fred C. Weaver will be held at the residence, 1016 W. Fourth st., Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. A. Burnett, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate. Burial will be in the city cemetery.

HARTMAN ARRESTED. Jerry Hartman, who gave his address as 120 E. Mishawaka av., was arrested by the local police Sunday afternoon on a charge of drunkenness.

BIRTH OF A DAUGHTER. A daughter was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rawling, 804 Smith st., River Park, at St. Joseph's Maternity hospital.

River Park

The reception and supper held at the M. E. church yesterday evening for the new members of the M. E. church, was a very enjoyable affair. More than 100 were served supper in the dining room which was attractively decorated in red and white, suggestive of Valentine's day. Rev. A. L. Brandenburg, the pastor, acted as toastmaster.

Nine members and four visitors were present at the regular meeting of the River Park Independent club held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Slade, 3012 Mishawaka av. Music and contests featured the evening's entertainment. Those successful in contests were Miss Edna Pickering, Mrs. Jessie Lee, Mrs. Harry Saxon, Mrs. Edward Freese. Miss Edna Pickering rendered a piano solo. A two-course luncheon was served by the hostess.

The "pro and con" of the debate was portrayed in an exhibit by the college club. A fine specimen of a stuffed robin is shown in a glass case, together with printed statement of his faults and virtues.

While the robin, it is pointed out, has a big appetite for cherries which all scarecrows in the world cannot take away, he also has a strong tendency to devour insects. Both matters it is argued, should be considered carefully by farmers and some resolution arrived at regarding the future of Michigan robins. The principal argument advanced so far for the robin's security, it is based on sentiment, and it is now time for the farmers to consider the matter from a utilitarian standpoint.

MEDICAL AUTHORITY, SLATED TO FILL HAYS VACANCY, LIVES UP TO HIS NAME

AWSHINGTON, Feb. 5.—"Work" is not only the name but the creed of the man most likely to succeed Postmaster Gen. Will H. Hays when Hays steps out to boss the movies. His full name is Hubert Work. His professional title is Doctor. His hobby is Holstein cattle and his recreation—if it can be called recreation—is dabbling in politics.

Work is now first assistant postmaster general. It's his responsibility to pick the men who are to be named postmasters.

That he has been able to do this and still retain the support of a large majority of congress for his proposed elevation speaks loudly for his tact and diplomacy.

His Cards on Table. A quiet, spoken, low-voiced, man of thoughtful appearance, Work is the sort that inspires and holds confidence. That is no small part of his strength.

He plays no game of craft or finesse. He puts his cards on the table, explains the ways and wherefores of each decision and frankly states his conclusion.

A doctor—a real honest-to-goodness doctor—would be something new in a cabinet, although many a cabinet has needed doctoring.

And Work's status in the medical profession is not inconsiderable. He was former president of the American Medical Association and during the war served as lieutenant colonel and then as colonel in the Army Medical Corps.

Born in Pennsylvania, married to an Indiana girl, Work settled down to his profession at Pueblo, Colo. There he founded the "Woodcraft" hospital for mental and nervous diseases. The major part of his professional work has been in this line.

Starts Political Career. Work first showed up in national politics in 1908 when he was chosen delegate-at-large from Colorado to the Republican convention. Four years later found him chairman of the Colorado State Central Committee.

Another four years put him as a Colorado member on the Republican National Committee. And from there he moved, when his party came into power, into the first assistant postmaster generalship.

Father stockily built, Work has taken on weight in his new job. Though past 61, his hair is still dark and heavy in front. He wears it reached back from his forehead. He has a stable bald spot at the back, which he makes no attempt to camouflage.

His mustache probably would be gray if it were long enough to show color. But he keeps it clipped to what amounts to a stubble of less than a week's growth.

His suits usually are dark, relieved by pin stripes of white or gray. A slash of color brightens his forehand ties. Narrow, horn-rimmed glasses, held by light gold bows over the ears, add to the habitual seriousness of his expression.

"How did you come to get into politics?" Work was asked.

"It's everyone's duty to take an interest in politics," he answered. "That's all I ever did."

"From membership on local committees it was a natural enough thing to move on to the state and national committees. That's all. I had only the natural interest every citizen should have."

"What do you do for recreation?" what do you play, what do you do for relaxation?"

"I don't hunt or fish or golf or dance. I violate all the rules of what is necessary in recreation and yet I am never sick," he replied. "Somehow I never seemed to have either the time or inclination to play."

Which seems quite proper for a man whose name is "Work."

However, friends say he gets most pleasure out of his stock farm with his blooded Holsteins. He admits he likes them.

Work's two sons are grown and married and he and his wife are alone here at an apartment hotel.

Unlike the dynamic, jack-in-the-box activity of the present Postmaster Gen. Hays, Work always moves quietly, speaks slowly and thoughtfully and follows carefully reasoned processes instead of appearing to jump at things by deduction.

In only two things is he like Hays—

Both are Republicans and both are Presbyterians.

PROMINENT LAWYER DIES

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 5.—John E. Moore, 75 years old, for more than 40 years a prominent lawyer here, died Saturday night after a long illness. He formerly was active in republican politics. Eight years ago he suffered a severe fall, and his health gradually declined from that date. A widow survives.

RHEUMATISM HAD HIM IN ITS GRIP MANY YEARS

Restored To Splendid Health By Tanlac, Well Known Roxbury Citizen Makes Remarkable Statement To Public.

Had Spent Thousands of Dollars and Tried Every Known Remedy Without Finding Relief.

"Getting rid of the rheumatism at this late date completely mystified me. For I had had it for 40 years and had spent thousands of dollars."

was the statement made recently by William H. Hayes, a well-known resident of Roxbury, Mass., in relating his remarkable experience with Tanlac. Mr. Hayes has been afflicted with the pains of rheumatism for 40 years and is highly respected and esteemed by all who know him.

"This rheumatism got me when just a lad in my teens and, while I resorted to every known remedy, I kept getting worse as the years went by. For the past few years every bone in my body seemed to be aching clean to the marrow and my joints would get so stiff and sore it was agony to bend them. For two years past the pains in my feet and legs were so intense for days at a time that I could not put my feet on the ground. When I did get out I simply had to hobble along at a snail's pace. I don't know, but I have never in my arms, shoulders and hands. These two hands were so swollen and out of shape I could not hold a pen or pencil to write a letter. I couldn't sleep at night, saw no ease or comfort during the day, and life was truly a burden."

"Well, I was just about ready to give up the fight when my attention was called to Tanlac. How this medicine has done it I don't know, but I do know I haven't an ache or pain and I believe I could get out there and walk a distance of five miles and make it in record time. To put it all in a few words, I am now in better condition than I have been in a half century. I don't think anybody could have better reasons for feeling thankful to Tanlac than I have."

Tanlac is sold at the Central Drug Store and at all leading druggists.—Adv.
